Good Samaritan Medical Center Shows Its Appreciation During National Hospital and Healthcare Week

West Palm Beach, FL- As we celebrate National Hospital and Healthcare Week (May 8-14) we would like to recognize the men and women who work hard every day to provide high quality, compassionate care for our patients and their families.

“Our employees are dedicated to providing high quality care for our patients,” said Mark Nosacka, CEO of Good Samaritan Medical Center. “They make a difference in the lives our patients and their families. I am very proud of the work they do.”

Since 1921, hospitals across the country have been celebrating National Hospital and Healthcare Week and inviting their communities to join in saying “thank you” to the many health care workers who provide quality care throughout the year. Additionally, National Nurses Week honors the hard work and dedication of nurses and begins on the birth date of Florence Nightingale, the founder of the modern nursing.

“I often hear our employees refer to their role as calling, said Nosacka. “That feeling is shown in every caring touch and the time they spend listening to our patients. The compassion shown by our employees inspires me. National Hospital and Healthcare Week allow us the chance to say thank you to these extraordinary people who care for our families and friends.

As we celebrate National Hospital and Healthcare Week we would like to recognize the men and women who work hard every day to provide high quality, compassionate care for our patients and their families.

Your dedication to serving the needs of our patients and to providing high quality care makes me very proud to be a part of this wonderful team, “said Nosacka. I am very proud of the work you do. You make a difference in the lives of our patients and their families in so many ways. Thank you for going the extra mile.
