Good Samaritan Medical Center has been designated a Breast Imaging Center of Excellence by the American College of Radiology (ACR).

"This designation is a testament to the care provided at our hospital's Comprehensive Breast Center, which gives women access to advanced tools to detect cancer early and help win the battle against the disease," said Mark Nosacka, Good Samaritan CEO.

Peer-review evaluations were conducted in each breast imaging modality by board-certified physicians and medical physicists who are experts in the field. These evaluations determined that this facility has achieved high practice standards in image quality, personnel qualifications, facility equipment, quality control procedures and quality assurance programs.

The ACR recognizes breast imaging centers that have earned accreditation in mammography, stereotactic breast biopsy and breast ultrasound including ultrasound-guided breast biopsy.
